Ecosystems and Land Use Change Ruth DeFries, Gregory Asner, Richard Houghton, 2004-01-09 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 153 Land use is at the center of one of the most vexing challenges for the coming decades to provide enough food fiber and shelter for the world's population raise the standard of living for the billion people currently below the poverty line and simultaneously sustain the world's ecosystems for use by humans and other species The intended consequence of cropland expansion urban growth and other land use changes is to satisfy demands from the increasing appetite of the world's population Unintended consequences however can alter ecological processes and have far reaching and long term effects that potentially compromise the basic functioning of ecosystems Recently the scientific community has begun to confront such issues Several national and international programs have been at the forefront of scientific enquiry on the causes and consequences of land use change including the Land Use and Land Cover Change Program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration the Land Use program element in the interagency U S Climate Change Science Program and the International Geosphere Biosphere's Land Use and Cover Change LUCC core project The result has been significant advances in understanding the complex socioeconomic technological and biophysical factors that drive land use change worldwide

Impacts of Land-use Change on Ecosystem Services Jinyan Zhan, 2015-08-10 This book aims to systematically elaborate how land use change directly or indirectly exerts impacts on the ability of ecosystems to provide services for human society The relationship between land use ecosystem services and human well being is a hot topic and there have been some important achievements in this field but its continuing growth means that it warrants further research The unique viewpoint the scientific analysis methods and the precise language of this book make it not only a valuable guide for professors conducting research but also a reference resource to help governments make decisions on relevant policies Prof Jinyan Zhan is an associate professor at the School of Environment Beijing Normal University China

Global Change and Terrestrial Ecosystems Brian Harrison Walker, Will Steffen, 1996-11-13 This major new book presents a collection of essays by leading authorities who address the current state of knowledge The chapters bring together the early results of an international scientific research program designed to address what will happen to our ability to produce food and fiber and what effects there will be on biological diversity under rapid environmental change This book addresses how these changes to terrestrial ecosystems will feed back to further environmental change International in scope this state of the art assessment will interest policymakers students and scientists interested in global change climate change and biodiversity

Special features include descriptions of a dynamic global vegetation model developing generic crop models and a special section on the emerging discipline of global ecology Landuse Changes, Wildlife Conservation and Utilisation, and the Sustainability of Agro-ecosystems in the Zambezi Valley, 1997 Ecosystem Services – Concept, Methods and Case Studies Karsten Grunewald, Olaf Bastian, 2015-05-18 Nature provides us with many services seemingly for free recharged groundwater fertile soil and plant biomass created by photosynthesis We human beings draw extensive benefits from these ecosystem services or ES food water supply recreation and protection from natural hazards Major international studies such as the Millennium Ecosystem Assessment have addressed the enormous role of biodiversity and ecosystems to human well being and they draw particular attention to the consequences resulting from the reduction or loss of these services These very topical issues are being addressed by authors scientists in a wide variety of disciplines and their approaches terminologies and methodological specifics are just as diverse What for example does the efficacy of nature or natural capital mean Which values of nature are particularly important how are they distributed in space and time and how can they be assessed and the relevant knowledge promoted Can all ecosystem services be quantified and even monetarised What should be done to ensure that the multiple services of nature will be available also in future This book explains the multifaceted concept of ecosystem services provides a methodological framework for its analysis and assessment and discusses case examples particularly from Germany It is addressed to scientists and practitioners in the administrative volunteer and professional spheres especially those who deal with environment landscape management and nature conservation and regional and land use planning The target group includes experts from the business community politicians and decision makers students and all those interested in fundamental ecological economic ethical and environmental issues
