When multiple forces act on an object, they combine to determine the net force, which determines whether the object speeds up, slows down, or changes direction. Understanding how forces act together is essential to explaining various observations from a physics world, such as a ball's trajectory or a car's acceleration. Newton's second law of motion states that the acceleration of an object is directly proportional to the net force acting on it and inversely proportional to its mass. This means that if the net force increases, the acceleration will also increase, provided the mass remains constant. Alternatively, for a given force, an increase in mass results in a decrease in acceleration. Force interactions also determine the difficulty of accomplishing tasks. For example, pushing a cart with a small weight is easier than pushing a cart with a large weight. Friction, which opposes motion, can make it more difficult to push a cart. Understanding how forces interact is essential to explaining various observations from a physics world, such as a ball's trajectory or a car's acceleration.  Answer the questions that follow. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Which of the following is not a type of contact force?             <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Friction</li> <li>Normal force</li> <li>Gravity</li> <li>Applied force</li> </ol> </li> <li>Which of the following is not a type of contact force?             <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Friction</li> <li>Normal force</li> <li>Gravity</li> <li>Applied force</li> </ol> </li> <li>Which of the following is not a type of contact force?             <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Friction</li> <li>Normal force</li> <li>Gravity</li> <li>Applied force</li> </ol> </li> </ol>
