

Dodgeball Skills Circuit

The activities below cover a range of dodgeball skills, such as dodging, throwing, and catching. The activities can be used in a skills circuit or in isolation.

Practise dodging with a game of All Tag!

- Everyone is a tagger and can also be tagged.
- Players start with ten points.
- If they tag another player, they gain two points.
- If they get tagged, they lose one point.
- Play for a set amount of time.

Practise throwing with a game called Beat the Bogyman!

Children work in pairs and will need a ball and two cones between them. They must decide on who will be the bogyman and who will be the thrower.

Position the cones roughly ten apart, for each person to stand by.

On the signal, the bogyman shuffles slowly towards the thrower.

The thrower must try to hit the bogyman four times with the ball before they reach them - on both arms and both legs. The thrower retrieves the ball after each throw and returns to their cone before throwing.

The bogyman and thrower swap over and repeat the game.
