Test Validity in Justice and Safety Training Contexts Kevin I. Minor, 2005 The intention of this book is to provide training officials working in law enforcement courts adult corrections juvenile justice child and family welfare fire safety emergency medical care and related agencies with valid mechanisms for assessing the degree to which trainees actually acquire the knowledge and skills required to effectively perform duties that can be complex and challenging in order to determine which trainees will and will not be formally credentialed to perform work This book addresses the current void in the literature on the topic and to encourage increased attention to the question of whether tools being used to assess knowledge and skills acquired from training conform to scientifically established standards of validity The meticulous efforts of the authors have produced a solid basis for application through comprehensible and concrete theoretical principles The aim of the book is to show how to perform validation of training assessment instruments by actually doing so and by addressing the central issues that warrant consideration in the process The book begins with background information that is important to the authors research on the validity of tests used in policed training After providing the background in the first three chapters the following four chapters describe and present the findings of their validation study of police academy testing The last chapter draws conclusions about the validity and reliability of the instruments that were studied and by examining the implications of their research for future efforts to validate tests in justice and safety training contexts The book also contains appendices that present data to support the conclusions and also include methods and instruments developed during the authors research

Fundamentals of Criminal Investigation Charles E. O'Hara, Gregory L. O'Hara, 2003 The purpose of this book is to bring the reader to an intermediate level of attainment in the main branches of investigation From this point he can proceed to specialized fields of crime detection or non criminal inquiry It is the object of the book to introduce the student to investigative work in such a way that he will learn what is meant by a complete investigation and acquaint himself with the proofs of the most important crimes and become familiar with the employment of technical methods and services available to him The book is intended as a presentation of the foundations of investigation An attempt has been made throughout to lay a sufficiently broad groundwork to enable the reader to pursue his further studies rather than to carry any single topic to exhaustive completeness The presentation is directed to the beginning student of the art of investigation The text throughout is addressed to the investigator a term chosen in preference to such titles as detective and agent because of its more general nature Thus the ideas and precepts have been arranged to practical application by a city detective or plainclothesman a private investigator or a federal agent Military personnel may find the work particularly useful in view of the fact that many of the paragraphs devoted to legal matters reflect the principles of the Uniform Code of Military Justice The seventh edition continues the tradition of concentrating on the essential elements of a criminal investigation Among the changes for the new edition some of the new topics introduced include stalking carjacking home invasion robbery drug facilitated rape electronic evidence collection clandestine laboratories and the CODIS identification system There has been an extensive revision of the narcotics chapter to reflect the changing patterns of illegal drug use Ecstasy methamphetamine dissociative anesthetics Ritalin oxyContin inhalants and anabolic steroids are some of the more commonly abused drugs that are treated here for the first time

Anglo-Norman Books of Courtesy and Nurture H. Rosamond Parsons,1929 Forthcoming Books Rose Army,2003 Criminal Investigation James N.
