account of a cataract operation at the beginning of Jean Paul's novel Hesperus. In this pioneering volume contributors extend current research at the intersection of medicine and literature by examining the overlapping narrative strategies in the writings of both novelists and doctors. Focusing on a wide variety of sources an interdisciplinary team of researchers explores the nature and function of narration as an underlying principle of such writing. From a reading of correspondence between doctors as a means of continuing professional education to the use of inoculation as a plotting device or an examination of Diderot's physiological approach to mental illness in La Religieuse contributors highlight how doctors exploited rhetorical techniques in both clinical writing and correspondence with patients how novelists incorporated medical knowledge into their narratives how models such as case histories or narrative poetry were adopted and transformed in both fictional and actual medical writing how these narrative strategies shaped the way in which doctors patients and illnesses were represented and perceived in the eighteenth century.

During the Georgian period there was a remarkable proliferation of seductive visual imagery and written accounts of female performers. Focusing on the close relationship between the dramatic and visual arts at this time this beautiful and stimulating book explores popular ideas of the actress as coquette whore celebrity muse and creative agent charting her important symbolic role in contemporary attempts to professionalize both the theatre and the practice of fine art. Gill Perry shows how artists such as Gainsborough Reynolds Hoppner or Lawrence produced complex images of female performers as fashion icons coquettes dignified queens or creative artists. The result is a rich interdisciplinary study of the Georgian actress. Published for the Paul Mellon Centre for Studies in British Art.
