Holland, 2008-09-25 This volume features eight essays from the 2007 conference of the International Association of Research in Service Learning and Community Engagement It explores the link between research and sustainable service learning covering program assessment models field based projects and civic education s role in sustainable communities

Participatory Pedagogic Impact Research Mike Seal, 2018-06-14 Involvement of community partners in the structure and design of services is largely accepted in principle but its practice is heavily contested This book argues that the co production of research is one of the best ways to involve community partners As well as having intrinsic value in and of itself research embeds a culture of learning co production and of valuing research within organizations It also creates a mechanism for developing evidence for monitoring and evaluating subsequent ideas and initiatives that arise from other co production initiatives The book makes a case for research to be a synthesis of participatory research critical pedagogy peer research and community organizing It develops a model called Participatory Pedagogic Impact Research PPIR Participatory research is often criticized for not having the impact it promises PPIR ensures that the issues chosen and the recommendations developed serve the mutual self interest of stakeholders are realistic and realizable At the same time this approach pushes the balance of power towards the oppressed using methods of dissemination that hold decision makers to account and create real change PPIR also develops a robust method for creatively identifying issues methods and analytic frameworks Its third section details case studies across Europe and the United States of PPIR in action with professional researchers and community partners reflections on these experiences This book gives a unique articulation of what makes for genuinely critical reflective spaces something underdeveloped in the literature It should be considered essential reading for both participatory research academics and those involved in health and social care services in the planning commissioning and delivery of services

Journal of Higher Education Outreach and Engagement ,2009 From Research to Practice Deborah S. Grealy, Sylvia D. Hall-Ellis, 2009-03-20 New faculty members after arrive with little experience in teaching or planning for teaching This book helps overcome that challenge Many if not most schools of library and information science have many students seeking a second career The information concerning teaching adult learners will be especially helpful for this age group Different types of learning can be identified and made clear by thinking systematically about outcomes with strategies Patterned after the matrix designed by Professor James R Davis in his book Highly Effective Strategies this book provides behavioral cognitive inquiry mental models group dynamics virtual reality and holistic strategies Each is described and explanations are given for how it is most effective for developing exercises to instruct reinforce and assess specific types of learning Each strategy also comes with its own appropriate measures of success Sample materials are included to illustrate these adaptations of the Davis matrix and materials about specific activities and course outcomes are drawn from the authors ongoing curriculum audit This book provides a structured platform that serves as a model for teaching and assessing student learning in applied LIS Courses Following Davis's premise that different types of learning can be identified and made clear by thinking systematically about outcomes with strategies including behavioral cognitive inquiry mental models group dynamics virtual reality and holistic Each strategy is deemed most effective in developing exercises to instruct reinforce and assess specific types of learning Each strategy comes with its own appropriate measures of success With the ALA Committee on Accreditation Standards reflecting the need for student learning outcomes this book provides both the introduction to this form of evaluation and provides examples of courses using this method of assessment

The CATESOL Journal ,2006 Acta academica ,2005 From Passion to Objectivity Sherril B. Gelmon, Shelley H. Billig, 2007-09-13 This volume the seventh in the series features papers from the Sixth International Service Learning Research conference It highlights the evolution of service learning research from passionate narratives to sophisticated studies with solid evidence showcasing international and cross disciplinary perspectives How Service Learning Affects Students ,2000 Building Partnerships for Service-Learning Barbara Jacoby, 2003-02-17 It is clear that service learning has the potential to yield tremendous benefits to students communities and institutions of higher education Increased student learning has been well documented As communities gain new energy to meet their needs and greater capacity to capitalize on their assets service learning enables higher education to fulfill its civic responsibility When service learning lives up to its potential to lead colleges and universities to transform themselves into fully engaged citizens of their communities and the world its ability to bring about positive social change is limitless To be successful service learning must be grounded in a wide range of solid reciprocal democratic partnerships Building Partnerships for Service

Learning assembles leading voices in the field to bring together their expertise to bear on this crucial topic Faculty administrators student leaders and community and corporate leaders will find this volume filled with vital information exemplary practices and essential tools needed to make service learning succeed Comprehensive in scope Building Partnerships for Service Learning includes Fundamentals and guiding frameworks for developing sustainable partnerships Assessment as a means of building service learning partnerships The complex dynamics of collaborative academic affairs and student affairs partnerships Partnering with students to enhance service learning How to create campuswide infrastructure for service learning Profiles and case studies of outstanding partnerships with neighborhoods community agencies and K 12 schools Engaging in collaborative action research through service learning partnerships Exploring the challenges and benefits of corporate and international partnerships The dynamic relationship of service learning and the civic renewal of higher education Building Partnerships for Service Learning is an invaluable guide and essential tool in taking service learning to the next level by taking partnerships to the next level The Art and Strategy of Service-learning Presentations Rick Isaacson, Jeff Saperstein, 2005 This resourceful handbook provides guidelines for connecting service learning work with classroom concepts as well as advice for working effectively with agencies and organizations Its model forms and sample speeches will help you throughout the course The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2005 Toward a Civil Society C. David Lisman, 1998-08-27 Addressing the need for marshaling the resources of education to help promote a more civil society this book argues that education has a critical role to play in challenging the dominant views of politics and education Service learning or academically based community service is seen as a promising educational pedagogy that can help students acquire civic virtue and serve as a mechanism to enable institutions of higher education become stronger community partners However there is currently a lack of theoretical grounding for the service learning movement consequently service learning is in danger of being co opted by academic traditionalism which could vitiate service learning s social transformative potential and in fact undermine efforts at democratic revitalization The author provides a basic explanation of service learning and how it is connected to promoting civic virtue It examines the underlying public philosophy debate between weak and strong democracy theorists or procedural and civic republicanism This book argues that certain approaches to service learning such as the voluntarist or charity model the experiential education model and the justice model are ineffective because of their association with weak democracy theory or procedural republicanism The central argument of this book is that a progressive communitarian public philosophy maintaining that individuals attain meaning and significance in the context of community is the most appropriate grounding for service learning Archaeology and Community Service Learning Michael S. Nassaney, Mary Ann Levine, 2009 Highlights the important role of archaeology and community service learning in transforming higher education into a progressive force that challenges contemporary social inequality through empowering students to work collaboratively in uncovering the silenced histories of oppressed and exploited groups Howard Rosing DePaul University Nassaney and Levine examine how CSL can contribute to what they see as the necessary reform of archaeological pedagogy in the United States Maureen Malloy Society for American Archaeology In recent years a number of archaeologists have begun making concerted attempts to reach out and engage the public in their work This collection examines how the field can successfully incorporate community service learning CSL into its pedagogies to broaden and enhance learning opportunities for students promote civic engagement and embrace community partnerships Editors Michael Nassaney and Mary Ann Levine have been actively integrating the techniques of CSL into their research for years and view it as a natural outgrowth of developments in the field since the 1970s Although archaeology has long emphasized a practical field based approach in training new scholars CSL moves beyond volunteering and experiential learning In discussing specific examples from work in historical archaeology the contributors highlight the achievements and challenges faced by archaeologists and their students in the classroom and the field while collaborating with a variety of community partners
