Handbook of Personalized Learning Matthew L. Bernacki,Candace Walkington,Alyssa Emery,Ling Zhang,2025-11-27 The Handbook of Personalized Learning offers a theoretically grounded conceptualization for the development and implementation of personalizing learning This comprehensive volume addresses personalized learning s roots in educational cognitive and social psychological studies of learning as well as in practice Positioned to shape the future of personalized learning this handbook documents past innovations achieved in educational technology research and development considers how advancements in learning analytics and machine learning have influenced policy and implementation and showcases current and future applications of personalized learning in diverse K 12 classrooms higher education and informal educational settings The book s varied rigorous contributions are informed by an overarching model of personalized learning that centers the assets individuals bring to learning opportunities including their prior knowledge interests self beliefs autonomy and identity and whose responsive designs build on those assets to improve learning and attainment Researchers developers teaching faculty and graduate students across educational psychology educational technology the learning sciences learning analytics human computer interaction and beyond will come away with substantive foundations and cutting edge exemplars of the ways in which designs can be personalized to promote learners experiences in educational settings

Literature Reviews in Support of the Middle Level Education Research Agenda Steven B. Mertens, Micki M. Caskey, 2018-03-29 This volume covers the 8 areas identified by the Middle Level Education Research Special Interest Group to guide middle grades education research They are young adolescent development cultural responsiveness special populations educator development curriculum social and emotional learning digital technologies and school structures

Personalizing the High School Experience for Each Student Joseph DiMartino, John H. Clarke, 2008-04-21 Why is it that so many students see high school as a prison sentence to be endured rather than a time to learn and grow According to DiMartino and Clark many high school students feel invisible and isolated They don t see the relevance of what they are being taught and they don t see how their classes are preparing them for success as adults This book offers a new vision for high schools a vision that puts students at the center of their learning Personalized high schools engage students by allowing them to plan and develop their own pathways through school based on their talents interests and aspirations The book describes six promising practices that are emerging in high schools Guided Personalized Learning Teachers act as advisors to small groups of students over two to six years to review personal learning plans assist in course selection and discover opportunities in the community Personal Learning Plans Students meet regularly with parents advisors mentors and peers to review progress and plan next steps Personalized Teaching Teachers differentiate instruction to allow students to explore different aspects of the subject and produce authentic work that shows their understanding Community Based Learning Active involvement in the community helps clarify a student s purpose and defines the steps necessary to achieve successful adult roles Personalized Assessment Rather than grades and tests scores the work itself portfolios exhibitions and student led conferences shows what the students have learned Personalizing school systems Some schools are moving past the Carnegie unit and focusing instead on helping each student achieve specified competencies often through learning experiences that the students themselves have helped design These six practices can improve learning for all students by engaging them in shaping their own high school experience and discovering how the academic skills they learn in school can have meaning in the world they will negotiate as adults
