Confessions Principles Architecture Process Life:

Confessions Jan Kaplicky, 2002-08-16 Confessions captures Jan Kaplicky's professional views on the future of architecture and his personal observations and reflections on society, design, politics, and beauty. This book is a tour de force of words and images, packed full of innovative buildings and design ideas. It provides a fascinating insight into the creative process of one of the most innovative architects working in Britain today. Lavishly illustrated with photographs and sketches that cover a wide range of topics, images are accompanied by stimulating and thought-provoking text. Compelling reading for anyone working in architecture who will find Kaplicky's account of their profession amusing, fair, and inspiring. Extreme Sites Deborah Gans, Claire Weisz, 2004-05-21 Tackling a hot green architectural topic, brownfield sites, this title asks the essential question: how should urban and post-industrial sites best be rehabilitated to balance ecological and human needs? This issue of AD is devoted to what planners refer to as brownfields. These are often sites made toxic through a recipe of urbanism and industry from our great water thoroughfares to our landfills. They are often the only sites available to us for planning consideration. The book examines the conflict between the demands of ecology and development when reclaiming such sites for re-development, bringing together multiple viewpoints from different disciplines. Includes the internationally renowned Andy Goldsworthy, Glenn Murcutt, and Renzo Piano. It will recast the topic in a fresh and current light that will interest a wide audience from students to practitioners. Aerial photographs, maps, and photo essays will give the visuals a richness and breadth of appeal. Green is an architectural buzzword and is viewed as the new parameter for good practice. Confessions of an Enterprise Architect Charles F. Bowman, 2023-08-02 The book goes a long way toward raising the profile of the invaluable role enterprise architects play in major software initiatives. For this reason, I have confidence that if organizations take these insights to heart and leverage them effectively, they will begin to deliver consistent real returns on their IT investments. Will this book make a difference? Time will tell, but my sense is that it very well can. William M. Ulrich, President at Tactical Strategy Group Inc. Confessions of an Enterprise Architect is the insider's track on how to succeed as an enterprise architect despite the politics, budgets, setbacks, personnel issues, and technological challenges. It includes theoretical and pragmatic discussions about the discipline, imparts constructive recommendations born of personal experience, and presents a set of best practices for developing professional-caliber architectures that deliver professional-caliber systems. The book also features numerous Confessions, which are practical tips, warnings, and guidance from a practicing enterprise architect garnered over a career of independent practice. A sample of confessions includes: Accommodating change is the sole constant in the professional life of an enterprise architect. Many enterprise architects don't appreciate that their decisions not only affect system design but also impact the development environment and influence the structure of project teams. In many cases, initial project estimates are so inaccurate that approvers would be better off developing their own assessments. In many project teams, the user is the last consideration. The insights contained in this book, typified by its Confessions and Pro Tips

offer organizations a way forward with enterprise architecture This book also explains how enterprise architects can engage senior business leaders as effectively and as fluently as engaging business analysts developers business professionals program managers and fellow architects In addition it demonstrates how to communicate sophisticated leading edge concepts in clean simple ways that facilitate buy in at every level Most importantly the book makes the case that a professional enterprise architect and by extension a professional caliber enterprise architecture sets the foundation for continued success in an industry accustomed to failure

Confessions of an English Opium-Eater Thomas De Quincey, 2009-02-23 Confessions of an English Opium Eater remains its author's most famous and frequently read work and one of the period's central statements about both the power and terror of imagination De Quincey describes the intense pleasures and harrowing pains of his opium use in lyrical and dramatic prose A notorious success since its 1821 publication the work has been an important influence on philosophers theorists and psychologists as well as literary writers of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries But Confessions is only one part of a larger confessional project conceived by De Quincey over the course of his writing career Gathered together in this edition these texts provide a fascinating glimpse of early nineteenth century British aesthetic medical psychological political philosophical social racial national and imperialist attitudes This edition includes the 1821 text of Confessions its important sequel Suspiria de Profundis 1845 and its sequel The English Mail Coach 1849 as well as extensive appendices

Weather Architecture Jonathan Hill, 2013-06-17 Weather Architecture further extends Jonathan Hill's investigation of authorship by recognising the creativity of the weather At a time when environmental awareness is of growing relevance the overriding aim is to understand a history of architecture as a history of weather and thus to consider the weather as an architectural author that affects design construction and use in a creative dialogue with other authors such as the architect and user Environmental discussions in architecture tend to focus on the practical or the poetic but here they are considered together Rather than investigate architecture's relations to the weather in isolation they are integrated into a wider discussion of cultural and social influences on architecture The analysis of weather's effects on the design and experience of specific buildings and gardens is interwoven with a historical survey of changing attitudes to the weather in the arts sciences and society leading to a critical re-evaluation of contemporary responses to climate change

Autobiographical Writing by Early Modern Hispanic Women Elizabeth Teresa Howe, 2016-04-08 Women's life writing in general has too often been ignored dismissed or relegated to a separate category in those few studies of the genre that include it The present work addresses these issues and offers a countervailing argument that focuses on the contributions of women writers to the study of autobiography in Spanish during the early modern period There are indeed examples of autobiographical writing by women in Spain and its New World empire evident as early as the fourteenth century Memorias penned by Doña Leonor López de Córdoba and continuing through the seventeenth century Cartas of Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz What sets these accounts apart the author shows are the variety of forms adopted by each woman to tell her life and the circumstances in which she adapts her narrative to satisfy the presence of male critics whether ecclesiastic or political actual or imagined who would dismiss or even alter her life story Analyzing how each of these women viewed her life and conversely how their contemporaries both male and female received and sometimes edited her account Howe reveals the tension in the texts between telling a life and telling a lie
