Christian Faith Personally Doctrine Classic:

The Christian Faith: Personally Given in a System of Doctrine (Classic Reprint) Olin Alfred Curtis, 2018-03-15 Excerpt from The Christian Faith Personally Given in a System of Doctrine Neither in claim nor in spirit is this book dogmatic As indicated in several ways by the book itself there is no attempt to speak the final word no aim to be or to become the recognized authority of any church or of any school or of any man After years of preparatory waiting I have I believe caught an important vision of the Christian Faith as an organic Whole of doctrine and I am eager to help other men to catch the same Vision In reading the book many peculiarities of View and method will be discovered but the main clue to all can be found in one thing namely in the junction of the two ideas personal responsibility and racial solidarity Every man is a responsible moral person but no man is complete in himself he is made to be a fragment of an entire race Instead of being content with one of these ideas I use them both in junction and with equally serious emphasis In this peculiar junction there may be I sometimes hope a fair mediation between Arminianism and Calvinism About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Doctrine of the Person of Jesus Christ (Classic Reprint) H. R. Mackintosh, 2018-03-12 Excerpt from The Doctrine of the Person of Jesus Christ That there is a main stream that the authors of the New Testament are eventually one in their view of Christ with a unity which is powerful enough to absorb and subdue their differences Of interpretation is not indeed to be lightheartedly assumed But it is rendered extremely probable by the simple experimental fact that the Church has always found it possible to nourish her faith in the Redeemer from every part of the apostolic writings Further this natural presumption is vindicated by a closer scrutiny of the facts Two certainties are shared in common by all New Testament writers First that the life and consciousness of Jesus was in form completely human second that this historic life apprehended as instinct with the powers of redemption is one with the life of God Himself In Christ they find God personally present for our salvation from sin and death Yet in spite or rather because of this basal agreement it is the more impressive to contemplate the sovereign freedom with which they surveyed Christ telling what they saw in books which have been quite justly described as literature not dogma Each looked at Jesus with his own eyes each Spoke out of his own mind and to force their words about Him into a mechanical and external harmony is simply to misconceive the genius of Christian faith About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important

Christian Doctrine in the Light of Michael Polanyi's Theory of Personal Knowledge Joan Crewdson, 1994 This work aims to show how Michael Polanyi's theory of personal knowledge provides a framework of interpretation capable of making a theistic view of reality credible It explores the thesis that we live in an open and personal universe with humans as the highest product of the evolutionary process The nature of the personal must ultimately be understood in the light of what God is Such an understanding allows us to see God and creation as a single order of personal reality in which God is both transcendent and immanent This thesis is explored with particular reference to the doctrines of creation the Trinity the Incarnation and the Kingdom of God
