Christian Schad Retrospective:

Christian Schad Christian Schad, 2008 Christian Schad Christian Schad, Michael Fuhr, Leopold Museum, Thomas Ratzka, 2008 Christian Schad's 1894-1982 cool vibrant portraits with their immaculate surface and the expressive eyes functioning as a mirror to the soul soon became icons of the twenties. Apart from its focus on these world famous key works representing the artist's decisive contribution to the Neue Sachlichkeit / New Objectivity movement, this publication also presents his early work influenced by Cubism and Dadaism and the abstracting tendencies of his work produced during the fifties. Works by companions and contemporaries place Schad's art in the context of Classical Modernism. His graphic oeuvre shows that even at an advanced age he took joy in experimentation, doing brilliant work in a great variety of media and repeatedly exploring new frontiers, for example in his well-known and influential Schadographs and rare Formica pieces. A comparison with more recent exponents of realism is meant to stimulate a new evaluation of his often underappreciated late work in which, beginning in the 1960s, Bodily Desire, Desired Bodies Esther K. Bauer, 2014-06-24 Bodily Desire, Desired Bodies examines the diverse ways that literary works and paintings can be read as screens onto which new images of masculinity and femininity are cast. Esther K. Bauer focuses on German and Austrian writers and artists from the 1910s and 1920s, specifically authors Franz Kafka, Vicki Baum, and Thomas Mann, and painters Otto Dix, Christian Schad, and Egon Schiele, who gave spectacular expression to shifting trends in male and female social roles and the organization of physical desire and the sexual body. Bauer's comparative approach reveals the ways in which artists and writers echoed one another in undermining the gender duality and highlighting sexuality and the body. As she points out, as sites of negotiation and innovation, these works reconfigured bodies of desire against prevailing notions of sexual difference and physical attraction and thus became instruments of social transformation.

Dada in the Collection of the Museum of Modern Art Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), Adrian Sudhalter, 2008 Dada: The Collections of The Museum of Modern Art is the first publication devoted exclusively to MoMA's unrivalled collection of Dada works. Beginning with a core group acquired on the occasion of the landmark Fantastic Art, Dada and Surrealism exhibition of 1936, enriched in 1953 by a bequest selected by Marcel Duchamp and steadily augmented over the years, the Museum's Dada collection presents the movement in its full international and interdisciplinary scope during its defining years from 1916 through 1924. Catalyzed by the major Dada exhibition that appeared in Paris, Washington, D.C., and at The Museum of Modern Art in 2005-6, the book benefits from the latest scholarly thinking, not only as found in the exhibition's catalogues but also in the critical responses to them, as well as in an ambitious series of seminars organized around the show. Featuring generously illustrated essays that focus on a selection of the Museum's most important Dada works, this publication highlights works in many media, including books, journals, assemblages, collages, drawings, films, paintings, photographs, photomontages, prints, readymades, and reliefs. It also includes a comprehensive catalogue of the Museum's Dada holdings, including those in the Museum's Archives and Library.

Edited by Anne Umland and Adrian Sudhalter members of the Museum s Department of Painting and Sculpture this book inaugurates an ambitious new series of scholarly catalogues on the Museum s collection Art Index Retrospective ,1994

Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe Marsha Morton,Barbara Larson,2021-03-25 Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe investigates the visual imagery of race construction in Scandinavia Austro Hungary Germany and Russia It covers a period when historic disciplines of ethnography and anthropology were expanding and theorists of race were debating competing conceptions of biological geographic linguistic and cultural determinants Beginning in 1850 and extending into the early 21st century this book explores how paintings photographs prints and other artistic media engaged with these discourses and shaped visual representations of subordinate ethnic populations and material cultures in countries associated with theorizations of white identity The chapters contribute to postcolonial research by documenting the colonial style treatment of minority groups by exploring the anomalies and complexities that emerge when binary systems are seen from the perspective of the fine and applied arts and by representing the voices of those who produced images or objects that adopted altered or critiqued ethnographic and anthropological information In doing so Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe uncovers instances of unexpected connections establishes the fabricated nature of ethnic identity and challenges the certainties of racial categorization
